- » There are no limitations on what a smart contract algorithm can do, the smart contract is there to actually execute the action it was scheduled to do when the contract specifications were met, without the need for a third party or human intervention.
- » It acts strictly in accordance with the pre-written rules of the contract, nothing less than nothing more, it is 100 percent decentralized meaning that there is no central point in the control of the contract such as a company or authority. You can't stop it, you can't shut it down and you can't be banned from the program
